6. Wider Ministry Impact

The programme's impact extends beyond academic progression. It is also contributing to a culture of service and participation within Ransom and Restore Ministries.

Giving Back Through Service

Beyond educational progress, a number of RRM student beneficiaries also serve as volunteers, contributors and participants in important ministry activities and areas of service. This reflects an important dimension of transformation: beneficiaries are not only receiving support, but are also being encouraged to give back, serve others and contribute to the continued work of the ministry.

EDUCATION	TRANSFORMATION	SERVICE	GIVING BACK
Access & progress	Growth & achievement	Participation	Contribution

Key outcomes

- Access: 17 needy students have been reached through education support.
- Progression: Current scholarship beneficiaries are continuing through secondary and university education.
- Excellence: Daniel's Best Overall Student recognition, Distinction and multiple awards, together with Evalyn's Distinction and strong class performance, demonstrate academic outcomes.
- Professional transition: Evalyn moved into teaching Fisheries and Marine Technology shortly after graduation after being called to serve as an Instructor.
- Service: A number of beneficiaries also participate in ministry service as volunteers, contributors and active participants.

7. Conclusion

As at July 2026, Ransom and Restore Ministries has supported 17 needy student beneficiaries, including 4 scholarship beneficiaries. Three scholarship beneficiaries are continuing their studies, and two scholarship-supported students have graduated from their respective programmes.

Daniel Karisa and Evalyn Pendo provide compelling testimonies of what sustained educational support can make possible. Daniel's journey includes scholarship-supported college education, graduation as Best Overall Student with Distinction and multiple awards, followed by continued university education. Evalyn graduated among the best in her class with Distinction and, within weeks, was called to serve as an Instructor teaching Fisheries and Marine Technology.

The impact also extends beyond individual academic achievement. Some beneficiaries are becoming volunteers, contributors and active participants in the ministry, creating a meaningful cycle in which support received can become service given.

“Let us not become weary in doing good, for at the proper time we will reap a harvest if we do not give up.”

— Galatians 6:9

These outcomes affirm the ministry's commitment to helping needy students access education, remain on their educational journey, reach their potential and become contributors to their communities and ministry.
